SKETCHES OF LITTLE OLD NEW YORK BY O. O. McINTYRE

Telegram Bureau: Rooms 121-125 Hotel Majestic, West Seventy-second Street.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Will Rogers, a cowboy, turned reporter during the recent performances of "The Stampedee" and wrote long pieces for Mr. Hearst's journals. Rogers really wrote them—he stopped in at the Astor every evening and dictated them to the stenographer, just like any other reporter.

Then he carried copies of the paper

MAKES HER READY FOR DAY'S WORK

Mrs. M. F. Walters Told Wonderful Nerv-Worth Story.

This thankful Nerv-Worth user recently made two statements in heart-felt praise of Nerv-Worth. The first one evidenced her growing faith in this wonderful family Nerv Tonic. The second, which follows, proved that her faith had been fully vindicated:

Burke's Drug Store—I want to make an additional statement to my testimonial written a few days ago. I am getting strong, can do more work and do it easy. I have not had nervous headaches since I have taken Nerv-Worth. I feel like a new person.

Supposed to have gall stones and was in struction to go to the hospital and have an operation. BUT THANK HEAVEN THE SUPPOSED GALL STONES ARE ALL GONE. My digestion is fine, can eat anything, sleep all night—in fact, can't get enough sleep, and wake up feeling refreshed and ready for the day's work.

around with him until the next day's paper came out. When his first story was published, a week ago, Rogers proudly showed it to a newspaper man and inquired his opinion. The newspaper man read it and showered praise upon it.

"It's very good, Will," he told him—"very good indeed. Quite prize worthy. I know just how it is—I'd probably be an awful joke trying to throw a rope, too."

In a vaudeville house on Seventh avenue the breakfast table gossip was buzzing. One drug store blonde was denouncing the realities of life and its hardships.

"What you should have done," said a juggler, "was to marry and become interested in a life of domesticity."

"Rats," she replied. "I did get married one Sunday and it spoiled my pleasure for the day."

There came a mysterious message to the writer of these little chronicles one day this week to call up "Room 906 Ritz-Carlton." I called up the hotel and was connected with the room. A male voice answered.

I had not heard the voice nor seen the owner thereof for nine years, and yet I recognized it immediately. It was a young man with whom I played when a young boy in Missouri.

I was telling my experience to Berton Braley, the poet, and he had had a similar experience that same day that far exalted mine in interest in every way.

When he was in Copenhagen with the Ford peace voyage last year he met a French journalist. The meeting occupied about a minute's time and they never saw each other afterward. The journalist was in an editor's office in New York and Braley was in the waiting room. He heard the voice and sent his note in by the boy.

"Didn't I meet you in Copenhagen?" Berton Braley.

The gentleman came right out. Braley was right.

Word comes to the literary colony around Washington Square that Jack London has become so infatuated with Hawaii that he will build a bungalow on Waikiki beach as his permanent home. Several other literary lights have become so attached to the lure of the "Aloha" that it is said a literary colony will soon spring up there.

Just before London left New York about a year ago, he was dining in an Italian table d'hote on Twenty-third street, when a well known bore came in. He was also known for his ability to sponge.

He looked at London's table. "Are you eating that chicken all alone?" he inquired.

"No, I am waiting for the potatoes," said London—and the bore went on his way.

Another preacher has dashed into New York full of reform and mistaken the throb of a gasoline engine for the pulse of the heart of the city. He tried to point out that it is the most wicked city in the world and fairly tripping with every shade of vice.

These well meaning gentlemen seem to see nothing but the glitter and evil. They never admire the rows and rows of apartment houses where hundreds of thousands of quiet little families are living quiet lives—attending to their own business.

"AMERICA FIRST AND AMERICA EFFICIENT."

We come to state in a plain and direct manner our faith, our purpose and our pledge. This representative gathering is a happy augury. It means the strength of reunion. It means the unity of a common perception of paramount national needs. It means that we are neither deceived nor benumbed by abnormal conditions. We know that we are in a critical period, perhaps more critical than any period since the civil war. We need a dominant sense of national unity, the exercise of our best constructive powers, the vigor and resourcefulness of a quickened America. We desire that the Republican party as a great liberty party shall be the agency of national achievement, the organ of the effective expression of dominant Americanism. What do I mean by that? I mean America conscious of power, awake to obligation, erect in self respect, prepared for every emergency, devoted to the ideals of peace, instinct with the spirit of human brotherhood, safeguarding both individual opportunity and the public interest, maintaining a well ordered constitutional system adapted to local self government without the sacrifice of essential national authority, appreciating the necessity of stability, expert knowledge and thorough organization as the indispensable conditions of security and progress; a country loved by its citizens with a patriotic fervor permitting no division in their allegiance—I mean America first and America efficient. It is in this spirit that I respond to your summons—From Mr. Hughes' speech of acceptance.

MERCHANTS NATIONAL BANK

CLARKSBURG, W. VA.

Established 1860, before Lincoln was President.

What The Currency System is to the Government, the Check System is to Its People.

The U. S. Government finds it cheaper and more convenient to keep its gold in vaults and issue certificates good for various amounts—which it easily distributes to banks.

The Bank's patrons in turn find it safer and more convenient to keep their money in the bank's vaults and issue checks against it.

That's the efficient way which greatly facilitates business.

Have you accepted the check way as your way? The Merchants National Bank has a convenient pocket check book for you—open a check account this week.
